Papers on topics related to sundials, dialing or dialists - whether dealing with history, art, technology, instruments, theory or current practice, are welcome!

Presentations should be 20-25 minutes in length and may be published in The Compendium, the society's quarterly journal. Please submit title, time requirements, and an abstract of not more than 200 words to

fwsawyer@aya.yale.edu

If you have items for show-and-tell or for display, please provide details so that appropriate time and space can be allocated. For information on the conference, address inquiries to NASS at the above address.

NASS has received great continuing support from our international contributors, but the number of articles ready for publication in The Compendium by our North American members is small. Delivering a talk at the conference can be a first step towards publishing your ideas to the benefit of us all. Take that step!
